

Water Festival offers conservation tips, family fun

June 21, 2018

Staff and wire reports, The Spectrum & Daily News

Conserving water is a top priority in Iron County. Residents are invited to a showcase of water conservation products and services June 30 during the Fourth Annual Water Festival in Cedar City Park.

The family-friendly event will host educational booths offering information on rain water harvesting, landscape alternatives and water smart plumbing. Water efficient home products, consulting and professional services and software and technologies will also be discussed.

Water-themed activities for kids will be featured with water balloon fights set to take place every half hour. Other water activities include a slip n' slide and the Cedar City Fire Department will create a giant sprinkler spraying water from a fire truck.

Free hot dogs will be available from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The Central Iron County Water Conservancy District is hosting the event to promote water conservation throughout the county.

The Fourth Annual Water Festival will be held Saturday, June 30 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in Cedar City Park. Admission is free.